

ICBA Certified BSA/AML Professional

ICBA BSA/AML Institute<sup>SM</sup>

The formal requirements for financial institution compliance under the Bank Secrecy Act (BSA) continue to be significant. With regulatory agencies committing to tougher and more inclusive BSA/AML examinations, it is just as important as ever to make certain your BSA/AML program is appropriate for your institution’s risk exposure.

Learning Objectives:

- Bank Secrecy Act and Anti-Money Laundering program requirements, emerging trends, and industry observations.
- Traditional financial recordkeeping elements of currency transactions, monetary instrument sales, and funds transfers.
- A comprehensive look at the CTR and SAR forms, including filing scenarios and dynamic “should you file” discussions.
- Customer Identification Program (CIP) requirements including Customer Due Diligence and Beneficial Ownership requirements.
- High-risk customer monitoring tactics-including an in-depth discussion on account ownership expectations, enhanced account review, and OFAC compliance.
- A look at the key suspicious activity monitoring program components.
- Techniques to improve your BSA risk assessment to address all business lines and risk exposures at various levels within your bank.
